

The world will never be as we knew of it.
We live in a new era of smart phones
and stupid people who use them.
Happily they text away whilst leaving behind the tasks of the day.
Forever will connectivity
be the only means of communicating?
Children being birthed are merely virtual children, being led to virtual suicide.

Is there an app to fix this hole in mankind? A way to rekindle communication that's genuine.
As long as we live in cyberspace,
Nothing can change, and nothing will.

Angelica (12th grade)